A) Objectives:

To understand that Earth is the only planet so far identified with its unique characteristics supporting life- with abundant resources which can fulfill the needs but not the greeds of human beings.

To understand that living and non living things are interlinked from micro to macro level as an unbroken chain from sun to soil

To understand that life is diverse and diversity makes the life successful, joyful, and beneficial and that destroying diversity is destroying humanity.

To understand that the-exploitative human activity is polluting the environment locally and globally which needs attention and urgent action.

To understand that man has to live and progress till the earth survives and hence needs sustainable development as hand over to successive generations.

To prepare the individual and the society to face and escape from natural and man made disasters with scientific management and societal involvement.
